

Managing Cross Contamination Risks

Cross contamination is a big food safety hazard in the kitchen, it's vital to ensure that all risks of infection are prevented.

Chop raw and ready-to-eat foods on separate and color coded chopping board

Clean and sanitize all equipments and food contact surfaces

Keep food covered and protected

